Dear Friends,

Hello from England:

We continue well here. Thank you for making it possible for us to stay here in London during this difficult situation.

Just a short update to let you know that we saw the Dr. yesterday. He said that things were going well. He has reduced the eye drops that Judy has to take, but more importantly, he has released her from laying on her left side all the time!! She no longer has to wear an eye shield at night, or protect her eye from water. So, it is a new lease on life!!

We need to be here probably 2 more weeks, while we wait for the gas bubble to dissipate and her eye to stabilize. Judy can see out of the affected eye, but it is blurry at this point. Her eye has been dilated since our arrival, and of course she is looking through a bubble, so it should be blurry. We hope that in 2 weeks, she will be able to see properly.

We have found a cheaper place to move, and we move there tomorrow. Since Judy can now go out, we will get her a few things. We left Nairobi in such a hurry, that she doesn't even have a pair of shoes (only sandals- and it is not sandal weather here), and only one pair of jeans. So, we are going to buy a couple of things in the next few days.

God's timing is perfect. We are here resting, and waiting. HE is in charge, so there is no reason to get worried. The ministry continues in Tanzania thanks to our team.

Blessings, Gary and Judy Woods
