

Good News Tomorrow, by James J. Stewart

Book Description

A man ready to retire becomes an intergalactic policeman. Now 30 years old again he discovers power, adventure, and romance. He also discovers God to be actively at work throughout the universe, and that there is a savior for every sentient species.

From the Author

After years of preaching Christian messages to Christians I wanted to find a new and innovative way to reach not only Christians but also those who are not connected with the Christian faith. Galaxies, Glamour, & God is the first installment in what I hope will be an ongoing effort to share the Christian faith in new and exciting ways.

Available through Amazon.com